1/ Explanation of Operational Transactions

OTRA Tracker - On May 22, 2012, in Docket No. RP12-605-000, the Commission accepted Columbia's proposal to implement its OTRA Mechanism, finding that the OTRA Mechanism is a just and reasonable solution to an operational problem on Columbia's system (Columbia Gas Transmission, LLC , 139 FERC ¶ 61,141 (2012)). The OTRA Mechanism calls on Columbia to complete operational purchases and sales required to ensure a sufficient amount of flowing supply into Columbia's system in northern Ohio in order to both meet its firm service obligations and its storage operational requirements.

Operational Compressed Natural Gas ("CNG") Purchase - Columbia purchased CNG to support maintenance and operational needs.

Operational Liquefied Natural Gas ("LNG") Purchase - Columbia purchased LNG to support maintenance and operational needs.

Operational PAL - Columbia paid to have gas parked on the system to support operational needs.

Balancing Pool / Gas Purchase / Gas Sale - Columbia purchased and sold volumes of gas in 2022 that were necessary to meet its system balancing requirements. Columbia posted notices on its internet website regarding the system balancing gas it sold.
Base Gas Purchase - Columbia purchased base gas to support storage operations.
